Expeditions from Nassau—Men and Arms Thrown into the Island—Continued Activity and Successes of the Cubans.

HAVANA, Feb. 3, }
Via KEY WEST, Feb. 4, 1870. }

Information received here from Nassau, dated the 30th ultimo, states that a schooner left there recently having on board General Golcouria, with thirty-five men and two hundred rifles. It is believed that she has effected a landing on the Cuban coast.

General Agnero left Nassau on the 19th ultimo on board a lighter with nine men. When last heard of, on the 24th, the vessel was near the Cuban coast, and proposed to run in that night.

News received from Santiago de Cuba up to the 24th ult. reports that ten leagues from the city the insurgents attacked and captured a convoy containing food and ammunition. Several fights are reported within the jurisdiction. The insurgents have also captured garrisons on two estates.

A steamer has recently landed a quantity of arms and ammunition on the north coast of the island.

The Reported Massacre in Havana Denied.

HAVANA, Feb. 4, 1870.

The report, originating in Key West, that 300 Cubans had been massacred by the Spaniards in consequence of the excitement growing out of the Castanon affair, is false. As previously reported, two men were shot in the city on Wednesday night, and these are the only cases of retaliation which have occurred.

The steamships Impératrice, from St. Nazaire, and City of Mexico, from Vera Cruz, have arrived.
