The Spanish Troops After the Rebel' Guerillas.

Several Engagements and Defeat of the Rebels.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

HAVANA, April 19, 1871.

Telegrams received here from Santiago de Cuba, dated the 18th inst., report an encounter of the column Quintin with the rebels, in which twelve of the latter were killed, among them the chief Toujillo.

Captain Luna and column, composed of the Bailen regiment, had an engagement near Bayamo with the rebels, in which ten of the latter were killed.

The column of Colonel Canazal, in Manaquitas, had an engagement with the rebels, killing six of them and taking four prisoners.

Several other engagements of less importance are also reported, but the losses are not given.

Antonio Ceballino, the newly appointed Segundo Gabo of the island, arrived from Spain yesterday.

General Carbo, whom Ceballino succeeds, will surrender his command to-morrow and will leave for Spain on the 30th. The retiring General had obtained the sympathies of the public to a great degree and all parties and classes regret his departure.
