NEWS FROM HAVANA.

Spanish Government renews its offer to the United States of a limited independence for Cuba, and this offer is likely to be accepted by the United States. The Spanish Minister in Havana informed the United States that the Spanish Government is willing to grant Cuba a limited independence, provided that Cuba agrees to pay the expenses of its own government and to hold its own elections. The United States has already expressed its willingness to accept this offer, and it is likely that the agreement will be made soon.

The Spanish Minister also informed the United States that the Spanish Government is willing to grant Cuba a limited independence, provided that Cuba agrees to pay the expenses of its own government and to hold its own elections. The United States has already expressed its willingness to accept this offer, and it is likely that the agreement will be made soon.

The state of the situation in Cuba is not all good, but the government is working hard to improve conditions. The recent elections were considered free and fair, and the winners have been inaugurated.

The Cuban government has also taken steps to improve the economy of the country. The government has announced plans to increase the production of sugar, tobacco, and coffee, and to improve the transportation system. The government has also announced plans to improve the education system, and to provide better medical care for the people.

The state of the situation in Cuba is not all good, but the government is working hard to improve conditions. The recent elections were considered free and fair, and the winners have been inaugurated.

The Cuban government has also taken steps to improve the economy of the country. The government has announced plans to increase the production of sugar, tobacco, and coffee, and to improve the transportation system. The government has also announced plans to improve the education system, and to provide better medical care for the people.