CUBANS TO ORGANIZE HERE.

The approaching convention to choose a President for Cuba, which will be held at Havana on July 13, is of great importance. Daily acquisitions to the ranks of the Cuban revolution are made by prominent arrivals. Many questions of the country are affected by the convention; the most important of which is the question of freedom and independence. The Cuban leaders are desirous of cutting out boldly. The idea is that if the funds for the war are not forthcoming, they will have to be raised by bond issues. BONDS MAY BE ISSUED.

During the last few days there have been many rumors of a capitalistic combination of immense proportions which is willing to finance the Cuban revolution. When General Quesada was asked that evening about these reports, he said:

"I can neither affirm nor deny the reports, because I do not know anything about it. It may be true, but I have not been consulted."

General Quesada then added: "I do not wish to discuss whether there was any probability of the issue of bonds, but I do wish to state that the Cuban revolutionists have many sympathizers in this country who stand ready to help them. The sympathizers are considerable and even today, without the bonds, so it is stated, the exchequer of the revolutionists is well supplied."

With the coming-convention the organization of the Cuban Revolutionary party will be complete. The temporary committee of 14 members which has hitherto conducted the business of the party will be increased to 30 members, 12 of whom will be elected by the convention and 10 of whom will be appointed by General Quesada. With the increase of officers will be made up, Benjamin Guerra of No. 103 Waverly Ave., will continue as treasurer, and Mr. Marti will retain his position as secretary of the party.
