GROUP URGES TRADE PACTS PLAN RESTORED

MINORITY CRITICIZES HEARINGS AS INCOMPLETE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4. (AP)—A minority of the House Ways and Means Committee today formally recommended restoration of the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Program without any hobbles.

The report called that course the only action considered with regard to foreign policy as a whole. At the same time, the minority criticized the hearings as incomplete.

The committee approved the bill on Wednesday by a vote of 17-8. Two Republicans joined the Democratic majority in voting for the measure.

The measure extends the President's power to negotiate reciprocal tariff cuts with other nations up to June 12, 1951, and eliminates restrictions written into the law by the Republican 80th Congress.

The majority report declares that the President must explain to Congress if he disregards Tariff Commission recommendations in assigning duties of specific commodities.

The majority report declared that the President's power to negotiate reciprocal tariff cuts with other nations was limited to June 12, 1951, and eliminated restrictions written into the law by the Republican 80th Congress.

Eight Republicans who signed a minority report criticized the Democrats for closing the hearings without a vote.

MAJOR SALABARRÍA, Chibas Testify At Cardenas Trial

Major Mario Salabarría, Dr. Eduardo R. Chibas, Secret Police Chief Dr. Eufemio Fernandez and the dead man's sweetheart and mother testified yesterday at the trial of Major Juan (Guancho) de Cardenas for the murder of Dr. Eugenio Llanillo.

Leonor Quintana, Llanillo's fiancée, told the court she had received a threatening telephone call and had therefor requested the protection of the police.

Salabarría claimed that he did not clearly remember what had happened at the time, because four years have passed since then, and said he was unable to confirm that Cardenas had told him he had sent men to arrest Llanillo.

Eduardo Chibas described in detail the investigation he had made to clear up the death of Llanillo. He said his first impression was that the crime had been committed by agents of Pedraza, but later, through investigations carried out, he learned that the death of Llanillo was the work of the police.
