She Hopes for Freedom

Mrs. Karen Nelson (left), 25, an American woman held in Cuba's prison for women at Guanajay, packs for a trip to Santiago, Cuba, Friday. There she will get a hearing on her petition for release from prison. She and two Cuban men are accused of slaying her husband, Alvar Nelson, a cane planter, last December. Mr. Nelson's death by gunshot wound at first was declared accidental. Later Mrs. Nelson and the men were arrested. Her father-in-law has hired counsel to work for the release of all three.
