

The Kansas News.

We are thankful for small favors from Kansas. After the cruel and unexampled oppressions which have been practiced upon the settlers, under the legal authority of the Territory, we welcome every gleam of light,—every hint that promises relief and redress to those who have suffered so much and so long already.

Our advices, published this morning upon our second page, from our Correspondents in the Territory, are, on the whole, encouraging. Governor GEARY is arraying against himself the active hostility of the Border-Ruffians. A public meeting has been held, over which the Surveyor-General, CALHOUN, presided, and at which Governor GEARY was denounced for his apparent determination to punish Pro-Slavery men, as well as Free-State men, for violations of the law. His order for the rearrest of HAYES gave deep offence to the Borderers. The Grand Juries have since indicted several Pro-Slavery men for outrages they have committed, and this action is ascribed—we hope truly—to the active interference of the Governor. He can have no better credentials than their denunciations.

Another good symptom is the report that Col. TITUS is about abandoning the Territory, and that he is drawing off recruits, from among the Missourians, to go to Nicaragua. This indicates a loss of confidence on his part in the success of the work in which he has been engaged. It is said, too, that he finds a large number of his associates equally discouraged with himself, and that he will be able to reinforce President WALKER with a very considerable force. We trust our neutrality laws will not interpose the slightest obstacle to their departure.

Provisions and clothing sent from the East are beginning to arrive in Kansas. The hopes of the settlers are reviving. Their confidence in the ultimate restoration of justice and order is increasing. A Mr. SPENCER, of Ohio, it is said, succeeds DONALDSON as United States Marshal in the Territory and there are reasons for the indulgence of a faint hope that Chief-Justice LECOMTE, the corner-stone of the oppressive system of law which rests upon the people of Kansas, may be succeeded in his high and responsible office by an honest and an upright man. We confess this is almost too good news to be true; but as we are inclined always to hope for the best, instead of yielding to fears of the worst, we shall cherish this gleam of hope until it disappears.
