

A New Orleans paper says that Col. A. J. Lockridge is about to leave that city for Arkansas to make arrangements for the emigration of a company of five or six hundred "persons" to that region.