

THE HERALD OF FREEDOM.

This paper has just been received, and Mr. Brown, in the issue dated Nov. 1st., acknowledges the donations received by Mr. St. Clair and Mrs. Brown, last summer. It will be recollected that when this gentleman and lady were among us soliciting aid, the cry was raised against them that they were swindling the community. The Buchaneers who raised the cry were of the true border ruffian stripe, and in Kansas would do honor to the fraternity there.

Among the donations acknowledged, we notice the following:

Major C. M. Hunter, of Alton, gave $500. Maj. Hunter was the staunch friend of Rev. E. H. Lovejoy, who was murdered in Alton, Nov. 7th, 1837.

Younglove & Hoyt, paper manufacturers, of Cleveland, Ohio, gave us $125 in printing paper; it being the same on which this number of the Herald is printed. The friends of the cause in the States should extend to these manufacturers their patronage, for this generous donation.

The Cincinnati Type Foundry, through its agent, Mr. Wells, made a reduction of $250 on a bill of material which we purchased at that office, and have now in use. It was a donation to the cause, and evinces the liberality of the donors, and furnishes the proof that if "corporations are soulless, those who have the conducting of them are not always so.

Amos A. Lawrence, of Boston, Mass., who has always been very liberal in his contributions in aid of freedom in Kansas, with characteristic liberality, gave $100 to aid in reviving the Herald of Freedom.

Mr. E. Needham, of Louisville, Ky., has promised an imposing stone, which will probably be worth $50. We prize this donation the more highly as it comes from a slave State, and gives us the evidence that there are those even in the slave States who sympathize with the advocates of freedom in Kansas.

Mr. Brown says: We have erected the heavy iron frames of the two hand presses belonging to the Herald of Freedom office, on pieces of New England granite, of which our imposing stone was made, and which was broken by Border Ruffians, in front of our new office, inscribing on one side of the largest, "DESTROYED BY BORDER RUFFIANS, May 21st, 1856." On the opposite side, "Revived Nov. 1st, 1856." These presses shall remain as lasting monuments of the infamy of border ruffianism. The day will come when those who were afraid of the truth, and who sought to smother it, would willingly give all their earthly possessions to erase that dark crime from their memory, but the "d—d spot" wont "out."
