

A Kansas Hero Unmasked.

JIM LANE'S HUMANITY AND AFFECTION.

Pass the Scoundrel around the World:

The editor of the Davenport Democrat had an interview with Mr. Baldrige, the father of Lane's late wife, who stated that when his precious son-in-law induced his daughter to go to Kansas, he sold her property amounting to $18,000, and after reaching Kansas, Lane procured a mistress and treated his wife so badly that she was forced to leave him for home, and he told her he had paid her passage on the steamboat to Indiana, when, in fact, after the boat started, she found such was not the case, and it was with difficulty that she raised money enough to pay the passage. Lane had robbed her of fortune, been guilty of adultery with a mistress, and sent her home penniless, and after she had left, tried to get a divorce from her through the very Territorial Legislature which he is denouncing as bogus and illegal.

What choice instruments the Republicans use to advocate their cause? How proud the Republicans must feel who have idolized this hero of Freedom. What happy texts the life of this Kansas martyr has furnished the pulpits of our political clergy.—Wayne Co. Democrat.
