

War Movements.

LEAVELAND, Mo., Aug. 2, 1855. Owing to the fact that the Kansas Territory is now a free State...

The abolitionists then advanced on Franklin, about two miles from Leavenworth, where they were met by a force of men...

The abolitionists then advanced on Franklin, about two miles from Leavenworth, where they were met by a force of men...

John Brown, Sr., brother of the famous abolitionist, is still at large, at the head of about 200 slaves and murderers...

At Leavenworth, Kan., Aug. 2, 1855. This city once more is the scene of a great and terrible struggle...

They have characterized the several battalions which have been sent to Leavenworth as being in front of the part of the Union...

Civil war exists here in a manner which is not only a disgrace to the State but also a disgrace to the Union...

The first statement, that Brown, with a party of three hundred abolitionists, had been in the Territory...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

Ten days have passed, and not a proslavery settler north of this river has been seen...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

received from Oliver Wendell Holmes, the poet, who told him that he might rely upon it...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...

It is not true that the Kansas Territory is now a free State, and that the people are free to do as they please...