

Our Kansas Correspondence.

LEAVENWORTH CITY, K. T., June 15, 1858.

The Lecompton Constitution—The Certainty of its Rejection—Solution of the Fort Scott Difficulties—Departure of Gen. Harney and Staff for Utah, &c., &c.

The rejection of the Lecompton constitution by the people of Kansas Territory seems to be settled. Everybody here says the bill will be defeated, and what everybody says must be true. Pro-slavery men and free State men alike are determined to vote against it in order that quiet may be restored to the Territory. The mass of the people do not believe that it is expedient for Kansas to come into the Union at present, and this desire to remain a Territory will be fully demonstrated on the 2d of August.

The rejection of the bill will be a rebuke to the political hucksters of both parties. The people will signify their desire for law, order and quietness instead of agitation, misrule and disorder. The "shrieks for freedom" on one side, and the bullying of the "nigger drivers" on the other, is played out. The day for agitation is over; the agitators have been consigned to the tomb of the Capulets, and nought is now in store for the people of Kansas but happiness and prosperity under the government of Uncle Sam.

The Fort Scott difficulties, about which so much has been written, and out of which the partisan press have endeavored to revive political agitation, appear capable of solution. Instead of being a political matter, as the ultras would have it, it turns out to be nothing more or less than the pranks of a band of adventurers who were fitting out an expedition for Arizona. These adventurers wintered on the borders, and made occasional forays into the neighboring counties for the purpose of supplying themselves with horses and whatever necessaries they thought were requisite to complete their outfit. To hold the pro-slavery men in the neighborhood of Fort Scott responsible for the outrages of these adventurers is as silly as it is to lay Montgomery's conduct at the door of the Free State men. The disturbers on both sides were neither settlers of Kansas or Missouri, but were merely adventurers banded together for the purpose of making a trip to Arizona. The determined action of Governor Denver has put an end to the antics of these adventurers. As an evidence of the fact, the disturbers have nearly all departed from the Territory, choosing rather to seek their fortunes in New Mexico, Arizona or Utah, than to run the risk of being hanged at the hands of the federal authorities. The Fort Scott difficulties may now be considered at an end. This being so, peace has been restored to Kansas from one end of the Territory to the other, notwithstanding the determined efforts of the partisan press to make it appear otherwise.

Gov. Denver and the other members of the Board of Commissioners have appointed the following precincts and judges of election in Leavenworth county, for the election on the 2d of August, under the English Lecompton bill:—

Kickapoo precinct at Kickapoo—Judges, Sparten, F. Rhea, James Reagle, A. B. Hazzard.

Leavenworth precinct at usual voting place, in First ward in Leavenworth—Judges Jeremiah Clark, L. J. Eastin, S. F. Few.

Leavenworth precinct, at the usual voting place in the Second ward, Leavenworth—Judges, C. F. Carrier, John A. Halderman, W. G. Mathias.

Delaware precinct at Delaware—Judges, George H. Twombly, Jonas Edge, J. W. Penoyer.

Quindaro precinct, at Quindaro—Judges, G. E. Buddington, P. S. Colby, Otis Webb.

Wyandott precinct, at Wyandott—Judges, J. P. Root, W. Y. Roberts, A. B. Bartlett.

Easton precinct, at Easton—Judges, P. R. Orr, Samuel Kookagee, Charles Chadwick.

Alexandria precinct, at Alexandria—Judges, Stephen Sparks, Dr. Allen, B. W. Eysalt.

The appointments are said to be good ones, the men being persons of high character. Mr. Carrier, Judge Halderman, Mr. Clark and Dr. Few are well known anti-Lecompton men, so the "shriekers" will have no cause to complain on the ground of partiality.

General Harney and staff started for Utah to-day. The following officers were attached to the staff:—Lieut. Col. Crosman, D. Q. G.; Capt. Hancock, Assistant Quartermaster; Lieut. Col. Johnson, Inspector General; Major Buel, Assistant Adjutant General, and Capt. Pleasanton, Aid-de-camp. The escort consisted of 45 men. General Harney expects to arrive at Fort Bridger in less than forty days.