

Cuban Liberator's Statue to St. Paul

St. Paul, Minn. (AP)—A miniature of the statue of Jose Marti, Cuban liberator, was presented to the City of St. Paul Friday in honor of Robert Butler, United States Ambassador to Cuba.

St. Paul received the statue because it is the home city of Ambassador Butler, who acted to avert a diplomatic crisis last December after American sailors had desecrated the original statue in Havana.

Expressions of mutual esteem and appreciation for the amity which long has existed between the two countries marked the talks of Dr. Oscar Gans, Cuban Ambassador to the United States, and Ambassador Butler.
