

As a consequence of the Cuban revolution, the New Orleans Picayune notices that in the theatre audiences in that city an unusual number of ladies appear of the type of beauty which so especially distinguishes the females of the Spanish blood.