

FROM HAVANA.

NEW YORK, March 19.

A Havana letter states that the steamer Henry Burden, which left Jacksonville for Cuba with arms, ammunition and men for the revolutionists, was compelled to put into one of the Bahama islands by an accident to machinery. She discharged her cargo into two schooners, one of which was successfully landed at Cuba, and the other was captured by a Spanish frigate.
