

CUBA.

Several Spanish Soldiers and Volunteers
Assassinated—Anxiety Among the People.

HAYANA, Jan. 24, 1863.

Several soldiers belonging to the volunteer and regular forces were assassinated to-day. These transactions, together with the unsettled state of affairs in the island, caused much anxiety among the people.

The País (newspaper), which suspended publication some time ago, will not be resumed at present. The Ferrocarril will take its place.

Spaniards everywhere speak confidently of an early ending of the revolution.