

CUBA.

Demand of the American Consul for the Body of Cohner—Reply of the Captain General—Quiet Prevailing.

HAVANA, Jan. 28, 1869.

The United States Consul here yesterday formally demanded of General Dulce the body of Samuel Cohner, the American photographer, who was killed by some armed men belonging to the volunteer force. He also wished to be informed whether the government was able to protect American citizens, and told the Captain General that if it was not the United States would be compelled to protect them. General Dulce answered politely, regretting the recent bloodshed, and expressing a hope that no further trouble would occur. He also requested the Consul to send a list of the Americans to the government authorities. The body of Mr. Cohner was immediately delivered. The night passed quietly.

Wealthy Families Preparing to Emigrate—Interment of Cohner—Protest of Americans—Supposed Attempt to Assassinate General Dulce—Return of Commercial Confidence.

HAVANA, Jan. 28, 1869.

Many Cuban families who have been generally very prominent revolutionists are preparing to emigrate, fearing a renewal of bloodshed.

The remains of Cohner, the American photographer, were buried quietly yesterday afternoon.

The city is quiet.

The protest of the Americans against the late outrage is being extensively signed at the Consulate of the United States.

The revolutionists have withdrawn from the burned town of Yara. A portion of Valmaseda's forces was expected at Manzanillo on the 19th. The cholera has totally disappeared from Manzanillo.

On Sunday evening last a man was discovered pertinaciously attempting to enter the apartments of Captain General Dulce. His extraordinary conduct excited the suspicion of the authorities, and he was arrested. On search a concealed dagger was found on his person. He was sent to prison. The public belief is that the assassination of General Dulce was contemplated.

There is more confidence felt to-day in commercial circles, and there is more business doing.

Exchange on London  $14\frac{1}{2}$  a  $15\frac{1}{2}$  per cent premium; exchange on Paris 2 a  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent premium; exchange on the United States, short sight, in currency,  $21\frac{1}{2}$  a  $21\frac{1}{2}$  discount.