

Cuban Interest in the Revolution.

- MADRID, Oct. 19—P. M.

The republican insurrection is generally considered almost at an end.

Previous to the final attack on Valencia the government forces, it is now reported, lost many men killed and wounded in the skirmishes with the insurgents.

The Opinion Nacional asserts that an understanding exists between the insurgents here and in Cuba. The Cubans are to assist the republicans in Spain with money, and when the republic is established the independence of Cuba will be recognized.
