

HOW TO BALANCE IT.—The first year of the Spanish revolution does not make a very favorable financial exhibit with an expenditure exceeding the revenue by sixty-five million dollars. As the revolution is thus sixty-five millions behind it should think a little more of the one hundred millions the United States offers for Cuba. Cuba will square the account and give a surplus.