

Cuba.

It is stated that numerous letters demanding money for the insurgents have been received by citizens of Havana from General Golcouria. They have been handed over to the Spanish authorities. Incendiary proclamations, dated in New York, have been circulated through the city. Cespedes has issued a proclamation calling on all patriots to destroy their sugar and tobacco crops.