

THE SPANISH GOVERNMENT AND THE CUBAN REVOLUTION.—It is telegraphed by the Atlantic cable that General Dulce has been ordered to suspend all executions of prisoners. This is an indication that Spain is getting civilized. It is the first time in her history that she has been willing to pay the price of a cable despatch to save the life of a colonist. It also indicates that some new policy is to be adopted with reference to the island. The independence of Cuba cannot be far distant.
