

BOGUS CORRESPONDENCE - FROM CUBA.—

Several of our contemporaries have been indiscreetly led into the publication of letters pretending to come from Cuba and to give reliable intelligence from insurgent sources. To any person having a knowledge of Cuban geography and of recent events in that island these pretended letters carry conviction of fraud upon their face. We have received many of them also, but the perusal of a single page of their crude compilings generally suffices to carry them into the waste basket. The ill-busters can do better business anywhere than sending such inventions to the HERALD.
