Departure of General Lesca from Nuevitas—Revolutionists Dissatisfied With Quesada—Arrest of an American by the Revolutionists—American Vessel Wrecked.

HAVANA, April 23, 1892.

Advices from Nuevitas to the 23th inst. have been received.

General Lesca left Nuevitas last week on his return to Puerto Principe, and on Friday had reached San Antonio without firing a shot.

Generals Letona and Escalante, with the Catalan volunteers and mobilized colored troops, marched from Nuevitas on the way for Puerto Principe.

Four thousand men were actively engaged in making temporary repairs on the railroad between Nuevitas and Puerto Principe, in order that provisions may be transported to the latter point before the rainy season sets in.

It is reported that the insurgents are dissatisfied with General Quesada, because he is always organizing and never fighting.

The insurgents still hold Napoleon Arango prisoner. They have also arrested a man named Robert Stevens for condemning the detention of Arango.

A government tugboat had brought into the port of Nuevitas as a prize a schooner with a crew of five men on board, but no cargo.

Dates from Santiago de Cuba are to the 23d. The American brig Germania was wrecked off Inagua. Her cargo, consisting of munitions of war, was nearly all lost. The wreck was in charge of the customs officers.

An American Filibustering Expedition on Its Way to Cuba—Remored Capture of Spanish Men-of-War by Monitors.

HAVANA, April 27. }

VIA KEY WEST, April 28, 1892. }

The government received notice that an expedition has left the Gulf for Cuba under the escort of a steamer; and two war vessels were despatched to intercept it. On the receipt of later information the Admiral of the flagship Gerona sailed from the harbor early Sunday morning on a tugboat.

There is an exciting rumor in circulation that a conflict has taken place between a monitor and the Spanish men-of-war, and that one of the latter was sunk and another captured.

The insurgents have reappeared in the vicinity of Sagua la Grande and again destroyed the railroad.
