General Puello has been relieved from his command and has arrived here. He reports that 5,000 additional men will be necessary to reinforce the Spanish troops now holding the Cinco Villas.

Intelligence has reached here of the landing of another filibuster expedition on the south side of the island.

The British schooner Lahave has been released and is being towed to Jamaica by her captors. Her owners claim damages to the extent of £100 per day.

Commodore Phillimore is at Matanzas investigating into the facts connected with the assassination of an Englishman named Robinson by the Spanish volunteers. The British Consul regards the assassination as an evidence that the authorities are unable to protect foreigners.

Advices from Nuevitas to the 16th inst. report another engagement as having taken place at a point between Puerto Padre and Las Tuñas. The Spaniards, numbering 800 men, under the command of General Ferrer, were defeated and compelled to retreat to Las Tuñas, having lost their convoy. They sent to Nuevitas for reinforcements which, were forwarded.
