

REPORTED EUROPEAN COALITION FOR CUBA AND SPAIN.—The Madrid newspapers state that the revolutionary government of Spain will endeavor to crush out the Cuban revolution with the allied aid of France, England and Austria, and that the last named Powers have officially assured the Spaniards that they are "favorable to the rights of Spain" in the matter. We are told also that General Prim is much encouraged in this direction by the result of his recent interview with Napoleon; and again we have the news, by special cable telegram from London, that the coalition report was denied in that city. It don't matter much either way. If the "great Powers" of Europe feel so inclined, why, let them come. They have tried the experiment already. England got away from Mexico in good time. France, with the unfortunate Hapsburg, remained. Napoleon knows how it ended.
