

WHO PAYS?—Perhaps the suspicious character of the Spaniard never came more offensively into play before the world than in this present Cuban difficulty. Every American ship that falls under the eye of a Spanish functionary is suspected of designs on Cuba. Just now the authorities at Halifax, having seized an American ship at the instigation of a Spanish consul, are engaged in putting out the cargo to see if there are any muskets underneath it.