

---

Our dispatches from Cuba indicate that the insurgents have, of late, made undoubted and great progress. One of the Spanish papers in Havana, the Diario, makes the most important admission which has yet been made on the Spanish side since the beginning of the Revolution,—that the Cubans hold possession of the entire district of Puerto Principe, except the capital.

---