

---

---

The Captain-General of Cuba is accused of another shameful trick of State. Our correspondent in Havana relates that the brief liberty of speech and of the press given to the island by him was accorded for the treacherous purpose of ascertaining the sentiments of the Cuban Republicans, and fatally compromising them. Plenty of Republicans were caught in the trap thus set for them, and most if not quite all of their chiefs, open or covert, have been sent to prison or exile.

---