

Our reports show that two of the alleged members of the Cuban Junta are either dead or not to be found. Nevertheless, some vain effort has been made in Court to resurrect them. Now, if the question of Cuba is to be turned into an inquest, let us know whether Spanish government in the island is to be set down dead, or merely non est intentus?