

* The new Government of Cuba announces for its motto—"Spain, Justice, and Morality"—three things which notoriously ill agree. One of them Cuba does not need—the rest Spain does. If the heart of Cuba's new tyrant is set upon morality, we should like to know what kind of morality—and if upon Spain, what manner and condition of Spain.
