

IN CTBA the insurrection increases in power and daring, and is by degrees spreading itself over a wider range of territory. Cienfuegos is now a centre of revolt, the railroad between that place and Villa Clara having been torn up, as a preliminary to further operations. The authorities are at their wit's end, and there seems no good reason to doubt the complete success of the patriots during the coming season.