Spanish Policy Toward Cuban Insurgents—The Aspirants to the Throne—The Slave Bill—The English Captives.

MADRID, June 2.—Dispatches have been received at the Colonial Ministry from Captain-General DE RODAS, informing the Government that insurgent Generals in Cuba offer to surrender on condition that their lives and property be spared, and asking for instructions as to the course to pursue. The Government has replied by telegraph that it is their desire that rebel officers sincerely desiring to give up the contest and be reconciled to Spain, be dealt with generously. On Monday next the Cortes will commence to discuss the question of filling the throne, with the purpose of arriving at a final solution. The partisans of the Duke of MONTPENSIER are very zealous and active, and have great hopes of securing the nomination. The Republican journals are extremely bitter against them. They declare that the country is in danger when such a name is proposed in connection with the crown, and they urge unrelenting war against "the Frenchman," as they term the Duke. As the day for the debate approaches the agitation grows deeper. The adherents of ESPARTERO have issued a circular favoring his election to the throne. The Liberal journals of this city condemn the proposed law for the emancipation of the slaves in the Spanish colonies, because by its provisions the children of the present slaves are to remain serving their owners too long. A modification of the bill in this respect is almost unanimously called for. There are, as yet, no tidings of the Englishmen who were recently captured by the brigands near Gibraltar. The Government is making every effort to hunt down the culprits.
