Introduction

IN the 56 years between 1875 and 1931, the Kansas State Historical Society issued three series of general publications: Kansas Historical Collections (17 volumes), Biennial Reports (27 volumes), and Publications (three volumes). A master index to the material of historical interest in these volumes has been a long-planned, but slow-to-evolve, project of the Society.

This compilation is the work of Louise Barry, a member of the staff. It is completely new; no indexes in individual volumes were used.

Emphasis in indexing has been on direct, quick-reference entries. Titles of articles, with only an exception or two, have been ignored, but the subject content of the articles, the authors' names, and the names of individuals, have been given thorough coverage. Selectivity in indexing place names was necessary to make the index a reference tool and not a catch-all for valueless entries. Cross references have been used extensively, both for subjects and names.

Some of the problems encountered in this work are discussed by Miss Barry as follows:

The Kansas Historical Collections, 17 volumes (volumes one and two bound together), were published between 1881 and 1928. According to the title pages of the first ten, these were Transactions of the Kansas State Historical Society . . . , but the name Kansas Historical Collections appeared on the back-strip of each. The first eight volumes included the Society's annual meeting reports. This material in so far as it relates to business affairs of the Society, has been omitted. These pages, then, in the volumes referred to, have not been indexed: C1-2:1-110; C3:15-100, 110-189; C4:1-237; C5:3-29; C6:1-34; C7:1-27; C8:118-126.

In comparing the executive minutes of territorial governors published in volumes four and five with the original manuscript minutes (now in the state archives), it was discovered that many errors and omissions had been made in the transcription. This is particularly true in the sections containing lists of territorial county and township officers. In fact, the inaccuracies are so numerous as to make the lists totally unreliable. An attempt was made to enter misspelled names correctly in the index, and to indicate variations in spelling.

The 15th through the 27th of the Society's Biennial Reports contain articles and items of historical interest, as well as some biographical sketches, all of which have been indexed. It is perhaps simpler to say what has been excluded, than to state what has been indexed in the Reports. As the title indicates, the bulk of the contents of each is devoted to Society affairs—reports of the secretary, treasurer, and board of directors. These have not been indexed. Also omitted are the names of donors, and the lists of Kansas newspapers. It should perhaps be noted that Fox's article on the Seventh Kansas cavalry in BR16:107-122 is also in the Collections (C11:238-253); that Martin's article on monuments, memorials, etc., in BR16:83-106 is also in C11:253-281; that Berryman's article on southwest Kansas in BR25:87-96 is also in C11:561-570; and that Connelley's article on the Medicine Lodge peace treaty in BR26:52-57 is also in C17:601-606.

Of the Publications of the Kansas State Historical Society . . . , volume one was printed in 1886. In content it is identical with the Kansas Historical Collections, volume 3, pages 195-469 (that is to say, it contains biographical sketches, and executive minutes of Territorial Governors Reeder and Shannon; addresses of Governors Stanton and Denver, in 1884; and proceedings of the Kansas quarter-centennial celebration at Topeka, 1886). Volume two (S. W. Eldridge's recollections of early days in Kansas) appeared in 1920. Volume three (third and last) of the Publications was W. H. Stephenson's dissertation on the political career of James H. Lane, published in 1930.

The Kansas State Historical Society is pleased to submit to its members and friends this Comprehensive Index. It is a long-needed tool and guide to the storehouse of information in the 47 volumes of the Society's series publications from 1875 through 1930.
