Explosion Rocks Cuba's U.N. Mission

NEW YORK — (AP) — An explosion was reported at the Cuban Mission to the United Nations just before midnight Friday, showering the area with glass but causing no injuries, police said.

Police said they did not know the origin of the blast, which occurred at about 20 minutes to midnight. The extent of the damages was not immediately known.

The mission was bombed Oct. 28. A man claiming to be a member of the anti-Castro group Omega 7 called The Associated Press to claim responsibility for that blast.
